PANASONIC JOINS DURHAM'S BEST IN TELECOM

Joe Hozjan President, Voice Path Convergence Group Inc., wishes to announce the addition of PANASONIC to the telecom line currently offered at Voice Path. PANASONIC is one of the largest electronic companies in the world, having sales in the billions, with technology advances flowing from its 95 research laboratories. State of the art digital telecom technology for the higher requirements of office systems is now available, especially for small to medium sized company's (SMB'S). According to Joe, in the telecom world Panasonics competitive strength is wireless or cordless telephones that are affordable and well proven in the consumer market place. They have now extended this technology to the office system platform, adding many features, all value priced and oriented for the small and medium sized business.

Today's companies need to keep their employees fully accessible throughout the workday. This increases consumer loyalty, reduces project work time and accelerates customer response. There is nothing better for communications than a human voice. There is nothing better for good relations with your valued customer than being able to reach their contact in your company immediately. With the addition of Panasonic, Voice Path can install automatic routing, voicemail to email notification, along with a host of customized possibilities, including IP telephones. For most firms in Whitby, Oshawa and Durham, Joe Hozjan points to the benefit now available with the cordless multi line office telephones, as an extension in the shop, warehouse or manager's office, employees can be reached anywhere anytime they are away from their desk. Panasonic has made it possible; Voice Path has made it happen in our community.
